

Amy Kay Watson, MCC

Amy@AmyKayWatson.com | amykaywatson.com
| Columbus, OH

Master Certified Coach (MCC) | M.Div. | Leadership Expert | Empathy-Driven Performance Specialist

Get Results Without Doing Damage

Amy Kay Watson, MCC, is the founder of Reboot Leadership LLC, a Columbus-based consulting practice specializing in leadership development for mid-market organizations. She has spent her career on both sides of the leadership development equation: as a manager navigating high-stakes conversations herself, and as a coach and culture-change facilitator helping others do the same.

She holds the Master Certified Coach credential from the International Coaching Federation, the field's highest designation, held by fewer than 4% of credentialed coaches worldwide, and has facilitated more than 200 culture and change initiatives across healthcare, finance, technology, and the sciences.

Her four-year engagement doing enterprise-wide culture work at Hertz Global Holdings, and similar work at The Ohio State University, gives her a depth of organizational experience that informs every session she leads.

Amy speaks from the inside of the leadership experience, not from the outside looking in.

50-word version:

Amy Kay Watson, MCC, is a leadership coach, facilitator, and keynote speaker specializing in empathy-driven accountability. Founder of Reboot Leadership LLC, she has facilitated 200+ culture and change initiatives across healthcare, finance, technology, and the sciences — including enterprise-wide work at Hertz and The Ohio State University. She speaks from the inside of the leadership experience.